

CELT Faculty Fellows Seminar

Applications Now Being Accepted

Deadline for applications is Friday, March 6, 2020

We are pleased to announce that we are now accepting applications for the Fall 2020 CELT Faculty Fellows Seminar, offered through the Center for the Enhancement of Learning and Teaching (CELT). Since its inception in 2006, 160 Tufts faculty have participated in this program.

The intent of the CELT Fellows Seminar is to create a learning community where faculty can reflect on effective teaching to enhance learning, and share insights and best practices from their teaching through conversation and teaching observation. This is a unique opportunity for Tufts faculty to increase their knowledge about student learning and to enhance their teaching skills. The interdisciplinary collegial relationships built during the seminar last beyond the program.

To apply to become a CELT Faculty Fellow, please fill out the online form on the CELT website by Friday, March 6, 2020.

Applicants will be notified by mid-March. There is a small stipend for participating in the seminar and we can only accept twelve applicants each year. We attempt to enroll faculty from all the Tufts campuses to enrich the interdisciplinary experience.

For all accepted applicants, there will be an introductory meeting on Thursday, April 2nd from 11:00am to 12:00pm followed by lunch.

The Fall 2020 Seminar meetings will take place on the following Thursdays from 8:45am - 11:45am at CELT, 108 Bromfield Road, Somerville (Medford Campus):

- September 17 & 24
- October 8, 15, 22, & 29
- November 5 & 19
- Dec 3

Past participants have said:

“I appreciated the ability to share different opinions openly and respectfully with other faculty.”

“I valued the bringing together of a variety of disciplines perspectives; but also the skill with which the facilitators guided and organized discussion.”

“I think I am becoming more adventurous about trying different approaches!”
